In his afternoon lecture he said in

"Christ was the fulfillment of the Messianic prophecy. He made the blind see, the lame walk, the deaf hear, cleansed the lepers, raised the dead, and preached the gospel to the poor. His whole life was a protest against suffering and injustice, and a plea in behalf of the downtrodden He was a Socialist of the right kind He broke up the beef trust of his day, when he drove the money changers from the temple.

"Christ gave to his apostles the power to heal. The physical and spiritual nature of man are so intertwined that it is as easy to say, 'Take up thy bed and walk, as it is, 'Thy sins be forgiven thee.' As long as the church emphasized the spiritual, it was a tre mendous power for the healing of the Not until the third century, when it began to be so greatly con cerned with temporal power, did the healing power wane.
